1.  Comment. Available information continues to indicate that the 30 Army was disbanded late in 1950, and that its component divisions were incorporated into other units. In  reported that the 30 Army had been recalled from Korea in March of 1952, that the 88 Division had been converted to a marine division, and that the 89 and 90 Divisions had suffered 12,000 casualties in Korea; available information indicated that this information was doubtful. Another Nationalist  that on 10 July 1953 a division subordinate to the 30 Army was in Linhai (N 28-53, E 121-07), where it had recently arrived. There is a possibility that the 30 Army has been reconstituted, but it is unaccepted at present.
